

Results of the Minnesota Free Pistol Championship Match. October 9th, 2010

It was a beautiful classic autumn day in Minnesota. The sky was an intense blue and the trees were in full color. The wind was nil and the temperature cool yet comfortable. As it is October, the sun is already starting to be lower in the sky resulting in the brightest targets experienced thus far this season. The angle of the sun/target/shooter was such that there was actually glare from the targets. The results were very close with very few points separating the top shooters. In sum, it was anyone's match.
